Pastoral Perspective

In the book of Job the "Adversary" approaches the Lord with a question he has been considering for some time. Simply stated, the question is, "How bad can I make it?" Scholars believe that the story of Job was written as long as five hundred years before the birth of Jesus, that its origins were during the time of the Babylonian captivity when it seemed that the dark forces had succeeded in making things very bad indeed.

The figure of Job, the object of the Evil One's cruel musings, became a symbol to God's people of their own plight. The argument that runs through the story, forming the dialogue between Job and his companions, has to do with the meaning of human suffering, and, beyond that, the nature of the relationship between humanity and God. The questions that surface are:

- ◆ Do our sufferings tell us that we are being punished or are abandoned by God?
- ◆ Does our frequent inability to discern a reason for much of human suffering mean that there is no reason or purpose?
- ◆ And the simplest form of the question: "Why me?"

To all these questions Job's answer is, "I don't know." There are no theological explanations in this story, not the kind that would satisfy someone looking for cut and dried answers or formulas. There is only the endurance of faith and hope and the resilience of the bond between the creature and Creator. But as for explanations, there were none in the offing when the story was written. It is a story that came out of a time of great sorrow and loss when the very best the people of God could think to do was to simply hang on. And when we think about it, hanging on was all that Job managed to do. However, it was no small thing. It was a triumph. "Hanging on" was exactly what was required. No more, no less.

When the "Adversary" set out to discover how bad he could make it, he tore away every external support a human being might possess... home, family, possessions, health, and even the comfort of conventional wisdom. Job was left alone. In his own mind, he could find no reason, no explanation for what had befallen him. It was in this extremity of isolation and pain that he curled his own existence: "I loathe my life...Would that I had died before any eye had seen me and were as though I had not been." And it is at this point that the story reaches its heroic stand, for here Job has touched the outer limit, not of suffering, but of what he will allow suffering to make of him. Though he curses his existence he will not go further. He will not curse the source of his existence. He will not curse God. He hangs on! And the "Adversary" can't destroy him or his relationship with God.

The answer to the “Adversary’s” question, “How bad can I make it?” is “You can do everything, but you cannot unmake a human soul. It is beyond your power to sever the final thread that binds a person to God.” When God made the man and woman He made them in His own image. The full extent of evil is not capable of destroying that image.

The worst Satan ever made it was the day Jesus died. And, as was the case in Job’s story, once again Satan’s rampage was at the sufferance of God. There was no help for the victim. This was the day for evil’s full unveiling. The only way it could be undone was for it to be completely uncovered and faced in all its horror. That’s just what Jesus did.

The account, especially in Matthew’s gospel which we read this year, becomes increasingly grim and despairing at every turn. The “so-called” defenders of the faith, the priests and Pharisees, are determined to eliminate Jesus even though they have admitted to one another that He may very well be a prophet. The main accomplice in their plot is one of Jesus’ disciples, a man who shared in the same bowl at the last supper. The rest of His close ones fled during His arrest, save one who followed later and then denied that he had ever known his “Master”. So on the day of His crucifixion, there were no friends nearby, only people mocking, torturing and taunting Him.

It was almost His last breath, when Jesus was finally overcome by betrayal and abandonment, that He cried out as Job had centuries earlier “My God, My God, why have you forsaken me?” But that was as far as Satan could push Him. He could get Jesus to agonize over why God had left Him alone to endure the cross. But he couldn’t break the relationship between Jesus and His Father. Jesus didn’t curse God, but rather cried out, “My God, My God.” In the worst of all situations Jesus hung on to His relationship with His Father. It wasn’t broken. He hung on in obedience to His Father’s will and love for us.

And so Satan, death and the power of sin were all defeated that day by the sinless obedient One who held on to the end. This means that, even though we can’t figure it all out in times of trial and suffering, we have One at the right hand of the Father who understands, who has hung on through what we might suffer and worse. We have one who is also beside us through it all. When we feel like letting go in futility, we can trust in the One who hung on to the end.

Grab hold of that One when you feel alone or forsaken. Know in your heart that Satan, death and sin are not the final answer, but rather the answer is that Jesus lives and because He lives you can face today and all tomorrows in His steadfast love.

Spreading, Serving and Sharing with You,

Pastor Carl

The Presidents' Thoughts

Communication is an important part of keeping our church family informed and together as we look for ways to serve the Lord. At St. Luke’s our monthly newsletter, News & Views (N&V), is an important media for reaching out to all members about upcoming events, celebrations, and worship and education opportunities. In order to provide this information in a timely manner, the Council decided to establish a hard date, the 15th of each month, for getting information to the Church Secretary for inclusion in the next edition. This allows time for formatting and printing the N&V so it can be mailed approximately one week before the first of the next month. It is important that all members have the N&V by the first so that they are aware of the events for the next month.

So beginning with the N&V for April, all inputs need to be submitted by March 15. If articles are received after that date, they will need to be held until the next month. So please get your articles in early and avoid missing the cutoff date.

Thanks to all who attended the special congregational meeting on February 13 to consider the projects and priority for funding from the Blumhardt Memorial. Special thanks again to the committee: Holly Hoppman (chair), Jack Fenske, Don Schell, Bernie Johansen, Ken Lentsch, Rachel Kiser, Jennifer Connell and all who provided ideas and projects for consideration. We are now working on an implementation plan so that we can move forward with the approved list with the appropriate oversight of the funds.

Our Christian Education Board is continuing to function but without a Board chair. It is important that we find someone who is willing to fill this position to provide the leadership and coordination of this vital ministry. If this is an area where you would like to get involved, let me or Pastor Carl know and we can provide the way for sharing your talents and serving the children and adult education programs.

May we continue to serve our Lord to the glory of His name.

Bob Behr

The Special Congregational Meeting to vote on the recommendations of the Blumhardt Memorial Fund Committee and the Church Council for expenditure of the funds was called to order by Council President Bob Behr following the conclusion the second church service. Church Council Secretary

We thank everyone who has helped in any way with After Service Refreshments – it is greatly appreciated. We especially thank Pauline and Walt Arndt, Thelma Williams and John Johnsen for the exceptionally nice refreshments provided and served on February 13 as a pre-celebration for Valentine's Day! If you did not stop in you really missed out. We are still looking for some volunteers that would be willing to sign up, in the refreshment room, to serve on the same Sunday every other month – remember you don't have to provide unless you want to. Also, as usual, we are always in need of help to provide so please sign up or just surprise us and set something on the table Sunday morning before service.

Soup Suppers a wonderful time of fellowship, before Wednesday night service will start on Ash Wednesday, March 9 hosted by WELCA, other groups will host the following Wednesday nights but will need others to sign up to help set up, clean up, provide soup, bread or desserts. One Wednesday will be hosted by the Congregation giving more people a chance to show their culinary expertise in soup making! Please look for sign up sheets in the Narthex and plan to join us every Wednesday night – just think ladies you won't have to cook except on the nights you sign -up to provide something.

Easter Breakfast - We are pleased to announce that Ron Webb, will be returning as coordinator of this event with the support of many others. Thanks to Ron, a couple of years ago, the full breakfast returned and we are blessed to have him back this year.

The Shepherding Ministry now has 25 shepherds looking after those who attend the 10:30 service and those who are shut in. As we continue to receive new members, we will be in need of more shepherds. If you would like more information about this ministry, or would like to participate, please contact Merle Zbrog.

A link to the pictorial directory is on the St. Luke's website: <http://www.stlukesac.org> if you need help identifying your sheep.

Next Meeting will be Monday, March 14 – 7:00pm.

Carol Carney,
Evangelism Chair Person

What an exciting year this will be – we thank Holly Hoppman for the outstanding job she and the Blumhardt Memorial Committee did in prioritizing the project list and for the congregational approval.

As you may or may not know many of these projects would have to be done regardless of where the money came from and could very well have increased our debt.

First, we are keeping the ladies of the WELCA happy because they had money first so the much needed multi-purpose room remodel/paint project has been started and should be completed by Ash Wednesday for the first soup supper.

I want to thank Board Members, Clarence Korhonen, Bruce Kiser, Eric Linblade, Jack Fenske and ever faithful Larry Dockter and Erwin Kiser for coming to get this project started on our work day, Saturday, February 13. Erwin it is great to have you come because you keep us moving in a forward direction! If you did not come – the WELCA ladies gave those of us who wanted a wonderful lunch.

Jerry Carney, Property Board Chairman

1 Corinthians 13:4–8a
Happy Valentines day ♥

"Love is patient, love is kind. It does not envy, it does not boast, it is not proud. It is not rude, it is not self-seeking, it is not easily angered, it keeps no record of wrongs. Love does not delight in evil but rejoices with the truth. It always protects, always trusts, always hopes, always perseveres, love never fails."

This was very evident as we celebrated at our valentine luncheon on Saturday, February 13 – a wonderful celebration with so much love shown. We were able to feed and thank the Property Board crew that has started the remodel-painting of the multi-purpose room – we heard that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach – think they are wondering just what we are going to ask for next!

We will be hosting the first soup supper on Ash Wednesday, March 9 -please look for the sign up sheet in the Narthex.

It is Stone Soup Time - Saturday, March 12
Ladies wear green, bring 1 cup (cut/cubed) ingredients for making the stone soup and be sure and come at 10:30 am (be sure and note different time) so we have time to cook the soup while we are having our meeting. This is a wonderful fun time – an incredible story is told about Stone Soup by Karen Behr. In an article in the Elk Grove Citizen on Wednesday, February 9, 2011, they highlighted the Art Program at Laguna Creek High School. There were two students in the article, Ashley Peterson and our own, Julie Ireton.

“...A job as an artist does not provide a steady income. But for diligent and talented teens like Julie, who enter a trove of contests, prize money can be won. For others, winning a title in a contest, regardless of whether a monetary prize is involved, is priceless on their college applications.”

Teenage ceramics artist Julie Ireton, 17, has numerous buyers of her work. We at St. Luke's are lucky to be owners of many of her beautiful creations.

“She's probably been the best ceramics student I've ever had, said Freddie Santana, a Laguna Creek High School ceramics teacher.”

Julie hopes to have her own gallery one day, but for now she creates for herself, her family and friends, as well as for our special events. In fact, there is likely to be a piece by Julie as a raffle prize at our Crab Feed.

Julie we are all so very proud of you.

Brooklyn Rae Moser was born on February 12, 2011, at 6:21 AM. She weighed 9 lbs., 11 oz. and was 21 inches. Brooklyn is the daughter of Alicia and Nick Moser, granddaughter of Al and Peggy Moser and niece of Jessie and Katie Iniguez. If you want to see pictures just ask Peggy. Brooklyn is now home with her mom and dad.

Congratulations to the Moser Family!

Forgiveness BRACELET

Jesus died on the cross to forgive our sins, and he tells us to forgive other people, too. Make and wear this craft as a reminder that you are forgiven — and should be forgiving.

What you need:

- Clear plastic bottle (about 16 oz.)
- An adult to help
- Scissors
- Construction paper
- Permanent black marker
- Glue or clear tape
- Thin ribbon or yarn
- Small hole punch

What you do:

1. Remove any label from the bottle. Have an adult help you cut the bottle in half, width-wise. At the middle, cut out two identical half-inch-wide strips.
2. Cut out paper the same size as the plastic strips.
3. On the paper, write "Forgive, and you will be forgiven" (Luke 6:37, NIV).
4. Place the paper between the two plastic strips.
5. Cut and glue the ribbon or yarn to run along the top and bottom of the verse, framing the words.
6. Punch a hole at each end, through all three layers.
7. Tie the bracelet to your wrist with ribbon or yarn.

PUZZLE

WHY FORGIVE?

This Bible verse teaches an important lesson about how we should treat others — and why.

Directions: Start with the asterisk in the center circle and follow the arrows. Write the words in order on the blanks below.
